The goal of this meeting is to provide an opportunity for the MPSRC interns to give presentations on their projects that mirror the experience of professional conference podium presentations. Each presentation included a project summary, current status, challenges overcome, and lessons learned. The participation and feedback from those invited provided an excellent learning opportunity for the MPSRC interns. Thank you to everyone who participated in and attended the 2nd Annual MPSRC Student Research Day.

This year’s winner of First Prize is Stephanie Noronha, for her presentation on “Evaluating Factors Affecting Medication Compliance in a Randomized Controlled Trial in Pediatric Urology: The Effect of Baseline Parameters”.
