

Student Research Day Awards 2010

Oral Presentations

1st Place, Rachel VanderMeer, Internal Medicine Resident

"Do current diagnostic approaches to lung cancer provide adequate tissue samples for individualized treatment decisions".

2nd Place, Valerie Théberge, Radiation Oncology Fellow

"Use of auxiliary deodorant and the impact on acute skin toxicity during radiotherapy for breast cancer: A prospective randomized non-inferiority trial."

2nd Place, Toran Sanli, Ph.D. Student, Medical Sciences Program

"The metabolic stress sensor AMP-activated protein kinase (AMPK) associates with the mitotic apparatus. Possible role as a DNA-damage sensitive switch on cell cycle".

Poster Presentations

1st Place, Meagan Verschoor, Ph.D. Student, Medical Sciences Program

"Role of Ets-1 in the regulation of energy metabolism in cancer cells".

2nd Place, Alex Wolf, Master's Student, Medical Physics & Applied Radiation Sciences

"Apocynin is an effective oral radiation sensitizer for prostate cancer: In-vivo study in rats".

Clinical Teaching Awards

Dr. Pierre Major, Medical Oncology

Dr. Jim Wright, Radiation Oncology